

The Past and the Present of the Korean Government's Policy for the Mega-corporations

--along with the Estimation of Legal Measures of the Government's Control over the Corporate Groups

Chul Song Lee (Chair Professor of Law School, Konkuk at Seoul)

- I. The Social Background of the Formation of Mega-corporations (corporate groups)
 1. Economic and social situation of early 1960s
 2. The so-called “Unbalanced growth strategy of the military government”

- II. The Legal Devices for Economic Growth and Economic Concentration
 1. Financial law
 2. Tax law
 3. Securities law and others

- III. The Role of Mega-corporation in Korean Society

- IV. The Change of Political and Social Environment for Business Activities
 1. Collapse of military government

2. Social wants for the equal distribution

V. Legal Systems for Control of Mega-corporations' Mis -use of Economic Power

1. Introduction of anti-trust law
2. Privatization of banking business and control of its ownerships
3. Control of the ownership of real estates
4. Control of hereditary wealth in tax laws

VI. Evaluation of the Legal Policy for the Mega-corporations