

Course title	International Business Transactions (B)
Teacher(s)	Shohei TEZUKA, Peter CASSIDY, SAITO Akira			開講区分	単位数
				1st semester	1.0
Numbering Code		Day・Period	Other	Timetable Slot Code	1J400

Lesson topic

This course will examine the various aspects of commercial shipping law, which is a vital component of international business transactions. After introducing the history of development of international shipping law and the various roles in the industry, this course will explain the different types of contracts that are commonly dealt with, how oceangoing ships are owned and operated, and the various legal regimes which govern the industry. The course will examine the topic from the aspect of English law, which has traditionally been and today remains a vital source of law for the industry.

Lesson target

Upon completing the course, students should be able to identify the various parties involved in international shipping transactions, explain the purpose of common contracts used in such transactions and understand the various international legal regimes which apply to oceangoing ships and the carriage of goods by sea.

Syllabus and plan

There will be a total of eight lectures covering the following topics:

1. The history and development of the commercial shipping industry, types of ships and ownership structures, and development of shipping law
2. The types of contractual documents used in international commercial transactions
3. Contracts relating to the carriage of goods, including bills of lading and voyage charterparties
4. Conventions on international carriage of goods by sea
5. Time charterparties
6. Matters related to marine casualties
7. Environmental regulations and port state control

The topics and schedule may be slightly adjusted depending on the progress over the days.

Evaluation method

Your final grade will be calculated according to the following process:
In-class presentation (10%), in-class test (30%), final essay (60%).

Evaluation baseline

- In the in-class activities, students should be able to display their understanding of the practical use of bills of lading and charterparty contracts.
- In the in-class test, students should be able to demonstrate their knowledge of the various contractual relationships involved in international shipping transactions.
- For the final essay, students will be required to choose from one of several research questions and present a logical argument supported by appropriate references arising from the topics discussed during the course.

Notice (include info. on related class)

This course is recommended for students who wish to gain an understanding of how shipping law plays an important role in international business transactions. It will be beneficial for students who are seeking a career as a commercial lawyer, as well as those seeking to work in a company that conducts international trade.

Review and preparation

Preparation: Read the assigned materials before each lecture to enable active participation in the discussions.

Review: Reflect upon the topics discussed in class and how they relate to the broader subject of the course. Review the assigned materials for use in the in-class activities.

Office hour・Contact information

Contact details will be announced during the course.

Message for student

This will be an interactive course that will maximise the use of classroom time to discuss the various topics. So please read the assigned materials in advance so that you can participate fully and help make this course as valuable as possible.

Improvements in Teaching

Text

Carriage of Goods by Sea, 7th edition / J. Wilson : Longman ,2010 ,ISBN:

Reference Material

- J. Cooke et al., Voyage Charters, 4th Edition, 2014
- B. Eder et al., Scrutton on Charterparties and Bills of Lading, 24th Edition, Sweet & Maxwell, 2019.

Maritime Law, 4th Edition / Y. Baatz et al. : Routledge ,2017 ,ISBN:
The Law of Marine Insurance, 2nd Edition / H. Bennett : Oxford ,2006 ,ISBN:
Time Charters, 7th Edition / T. Coghlin et al. : ,2014 ,ISBN:

Classroom Language

English

Keywords

International Commercial Law; Business Transactions; Maritime Law