

Work with the IMF.
Work with the world.

International Monetary Fund Seminar

Date: November 18, 2024

Time: 1:20 p.m. – 2:50 p.m.

Venue: Social Science Presentation Hall, 3rd Floor, Frontier Building, Kobe University

- Introduction to IMF's work, with a focus on Asia and the Pacific Region
- IMF as your future workplace

Join us at this information session to learn about our mission, the work of IMF economists, and our recruitment programs. The first half of the seminar will be devoted to an overview of IMF's flagship reports on global and regional surveillance, and touch on the IMF's engagement with lending in the Asia Pacific Region. The second half will cover introduction of career opportunities.

We are keen to meet economics students who are interested in macroeconomics or a related field such as monetary economics, financial economics, public finance, international trade, econometrics and macro-critical policy areas including climate, digital money, gender, and inclusion.

Recruitment programs that we will discuss include:

- Research Analyst Program (RAP), for Bachelors/Honors and Masters students
- Fund Internship Program (FIP), for current PhD students
- Economist Program (EP), for students completing their PhD
- Mid-Career Program, for experienced economists

If you are interested in being part of a team that contributes to promoting economic stability on a global stage, and want to learn how to join us, please come along. Both undergraduate and postgraduate students are welcome to attend.

For more information, visit imf.org/jobs